

Bolivia 2007 Team Covenant

As an ambassador of the Lord Jesus Christ and member of the 2007 Bolivia Team I agree to the following:

To completely support the ethos of La Palmera Christian Cultural Center, submitting to the La Palmera leaders in all I do and say.

To remain focused on our entire team and its activities, not acting solely as an individual, but rather a team member.

To dress modestly, not drawing inappropriate attention to myself.

To refrain from using any alcoholic beverages, tobacco or illegal drugs.

To do all things without complaining and disputing, including inappropriate language and speech.

To regularly participate in morning devotions, team activities, team meetings, and interacting with our hosts, staff, school children and local workers.

To be respectful of all team members, including the need for personal space and an appropriate “lights out” time each evening.
